

Elaine Thompson is a celebrity ghostwriter and health enthusiast. She helps executives, CEOs, speakers, celebrities, and Commanders of their craft place their legacy into books for future generations to access. After analyzing her writing talent, she founded Word Lab under the banner of Authors in Action, an initiative dedicated to helping individuals discover their author potential.

She has been featured as a speaker on the following platforms: Women's Empowerment Leadership Legacy Conference, Grace Communion International's youth ministry, and Giftwrapped Global. Special features include the Women's Wednesday Blog and Zero Mondays. She is the author of the following: Chosen, The Dragon Princess, Stolen Empire, Warlords, Giftwrapped, How to Self-Publish Your Best Seller, and How I Kicked HPV's Butt.

Elaine faced challenging times in 2017 when she was diagnosed with precancerous cells on her cervix. This inspired her to find a way to overcome this challenge, which she did successfully with the help of God in less than a year. This experience made her passionate about health and the power of the immune system once armed and inspired her to establish IronImmunity, a company dedicated to developing powerful immune systems in individuals.

It was during these dark times that she decided to explore her gifts, talents, and skills to help take her mind off her problems and achieve financial freedom. She discovered that any talent, skill, or experience could be leveraged to help others. It is through the expansion of the gifts that God has given an individual that they can achieve spiritual, mental, and financial balance. Elaine's favorite quote is: "If you chase the best version of you, you'll never need to chase another dime again; instead, money will chase you." This quote reminds her daily that life is a pursuit of excellence. The success of her companies inspired the founding of Giftwrapped Global, in which businesses are engineered strictly through gifts, talents, skills, and experiences to gain purpose and financial freedom. Giftwrapped Global explores various levels of service, labeling them as free, affordable, and high-value investments, and highlights that there is power in all three.

It is said that an eagle uses the winds of a storm to elevate itself and fly even higher. Like the eagle, Elaine has utilized the storms in her life to grow and help others overcome these same storms. When she isn't diving into a manuscript or giving business advice, you can find her helping other young women discover the power of their immune systems. She acknowledges the significance of both experience and education and holds a diploma from Nassau Christian Schools and a Business Administration degree from Omega College. She thanks God for every experience — good and bad — and believes that our journey either makes or breaks us.

To the generation of disruptors, strong and empowered with dreams beyond measure . . . To the ground-breakers of tomorrow who strive to be the world's best in the global arena . . . To the audacious forerunners daringly pursuing innovative horizons and blazing new trails . . . Elaine Thompson looks forward to working with you!

